Setting up a stakeholder network

Things to think about

Think about which institutional actors you should involve in a participative policy making process.

1 - Which do you think are the organizations and service providers in your location that would be more interested and motivated to engage in such a process?

2 - Which institutions in your location would have more power to implement the results of the process?

3 - Which institutions, organizations and service providers would have the money to finance such a process?
